What is fame? Several Northern papers locate Marion Butler in South Carolina, confounding him with ex-U. S. Senator M. C. Butler. We don't know whether Marion or M. C. should be maddest at this.

Dr. Parkhurst said in one of his recent speeches that as between living in Sodom and Gomorrah and New York, his preference would be for the old towns. There is no accounting for the tastes or preferences of some men.

In his case "distance lends enchantment to the view," and he will keep a good deal of salt water between him and Constantinople.

Count Leopold de Melville is under arrest in New York charged with bigamy. The count scorns the charge, and declares that bigamy isn't in it, for he has been married so often that he can't count the wives he has had at different times. His memory serves him up to about fifty, but caves there. His last venture was a Chicago woman, and that's what got him into trouble.

Some of the waiters in the nobby New York restaurants don't get much pay, only a dollar a day, but they do a tip-top business in tips. One of them sued the proprietor of a Fifth Avenue restaurant for $2,000 damages because of an injury sustained which kept him idle for about twenty weeks, by which he lost $100 a week in tips. This was considered a big claim, but waiters called in as witnesses testified that there are a number of waiters who make that much a week in tips and lots of them who make from $25 to $50 a week.

I.O.O.F. CELEBRATION

Wilmington Odd Fellows Observed Eighty-second Anniversary Last Night

ADDRESS BY COL. BRUTON.

Masterly Effort Thoroughly Appreciated by an Opera House Full of People. Splendid Musical Programme Artistically Rendered.

The eighty-second anniversary celebration by the members of the Odd Fellow fraternity in Wilmington last evening at the Opera House was in every way characteristic of the spirit of enterprise and completeness for which the order is noted everywhere, and the event upon the whole reflects great credit upon the members of the committee of arrangements, who have worked assiduously for the past month to make a success of it.

The exercises opened a little after 8 o'clock with a musical number, "Two Roses," by a male quartette consisting of Messrs. C. H. Cooper, first tenor; J. S. Williams, first bass, R. C. Banks, second tenor; A. S. Holden, second bass. Then followed a fervent prayer by the Rev. A. D McClure, chaplain, and this was followed by a "Hunting Song," sweetly rendered by a mixed quartette participated in by Mrs W. L. Latta, soprano; Mrs. Jas. D. Smith, alto; Mr. R. C. Banks, tenor, and Mr. J. S. Williams, bass.

Secretary B F. King, of the officers of the joint meeting, then read the proclamation as is customary upon such celebrations, and a duet, "Gently Flows the River," was superbly rendered by Messrs. Banks and A. S. Holden.

The usual anniversary ceremony then came, and after a delightful rendition of "The Bridge" by the male quartette, the Hon. John D. Bellamy, Past Grand Master, presented in happy manner, Col. Jno. F. Bruton, P. G. M., of Wilson, N. C., and one of the most distinguished members of the order in the State.

Col. Bruton spoke for about forty minutes, dwelling upon the benefits and beauties of Odd Fellowship, and closing with a beautiful figure of speech enumerating the cardinal principles of Odd Fellowship—"Love, Friendship, Truth, Charity, Benevolence; five great virtues, which, like a jewel on the stretched finger of time, shine luminous forever."

Col. Bruton's speech is spoken of as one of the very best ever delivered upon the occasion of a lodge function in this city. The Opera House was filled to overflowing and the speaker was given most attentive and appreciative hearing.

"Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," (Foster), was next rendered by a mixed quartette, consisting of Miss Carrie White, soprano; Mrs. F. A. Muse, alto, Mr. C. H. Cooper, tenor; Mr. A. S. Holden, bass.

Next followed a recitation by Miss Hattye Taylor, which was charmingly presented and greatly enjoyed. The closing chorus, "Oh, Italia, Italia, Beloved," (Donizetti), was rendered by Mrs. Latta and Miss White, sopranos; Mrs. Smith and Mrs Muse, altos; Messrs Cooper and Banks, tenors, and Messrs. Williams and Holden, basses.

The benediction by Rev. Mr. McClure dismissed perhaps the largest gathering of Odd Fellows and their friends ever assembled in the city.

Mr. Alfred H Yopp played a splendid piano accompaniment to all the musical selections, which were warmly applauded.

Col. Bruton, the orator, arrived in the city last evening and is being entertained at the home of his friend, Col. Walker Taylor.

In attendance upon the celebration were about twenty five members of Atlantic Lodge, I O O F, of Southport, who came up on the steamer Wilmington late in the afternoon and returned after the exercises last night. They were hospitable entertained at The Orton by the Wilmington lodges.

The committee of arrangements for the event last night was composed as follows: W. L. Smith, chairman; J. A. Orrell, secretary; J W. Fleet, H O Craig, J. J Hopkins, W. C. Smith, Jno E Wood, D. K LeGwin, B. R. Penny, B. J Jacobs, E. N. Penny, E. F Johnson.

The names of officers who presided at the meeting have already been published in the STAR.

The following were among the party of Southport Odd Fellows who came up for the celebration: Jas. A. Williams, O. D. Burriss, B. F. Grier, J. T Lowrimer, R J. Holden, J. B. Ruark, A. H Olsen, Fip Eagler, J. A. Nox A. C Lima, J. R. McCracken, C. E. Taylor.

THE ANNUAL PILGRIMAGE.

Colonial Dames Are Arranging for a Most Delightful Trip On Next Wednesday. Announcements Made.

The North Carolina Society of Colonial Dames is very active in its preparations for the annual pilgrimage next Wednesday, May 1st, to the ruins of St Philip's church at Old Brunswick. A meeting of the Society was held yesterday afternoon in the Masonic Temple, at which final arrangements for the trip were made. The steamer Wilmington will leave her wharf at 9 45 o'clock and the fare for the round trip will be only 50 cents for adults and for children under 15 years of age 15 cents.

The Dames are determined to make of the excursion an altogether agreeable and delightful affair, and a large party is expected. Those who contemplate going are asked to carry luncheon with them and a supply of water, as the supply about the ruins is limited and inferior.

It is hoped that no children will be allowed to take the trip unless under the care of some older person, as the ladies in charge of the excursion can not become responsible for their safe keeping.

In the event the day is not favorable to an outing of this character on Wednesday, the trip will be made on Thursday following, and the annual meeting of the society will be held at 10 A M. on the Wednesday preceding.

DEATH OF MRS. P. V. ALDERMAN.

Passed Away at Nine O'clock Yesterday Morning—Funeral This Afternoon.

Mrs Rena H. Alderman, relict of the late Percy V. Alderman, who was so well and favorably known in Wilmington, died at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of her aunts, Misses Lula and Teresa Agostini, No. 19 South Sixth street, after a lingering illness of several months with consumption.

Mrs. Alderman was a daughter of the late Wm. Harris and a grand daughter of the late F. M. Agostini She was only 28 years of age and leaves one child, Harry, aged 6 years. Her aunts, two brothers and two sisters are the only remaining immediate relatives to mourn the sad and untimely death. The brothers are Messrs. W. M. Harriss and Pierre A. Harriss and the sisters, Mrs. E S. Knight and Mrs. F. T. Skipper. Mrs. Alderman was a consistent member of St. James' Episcopal church and a lady of sweet Christian character.

The funeral will be held from the late residence at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

ATLANTIC YACHT CLUB.

Initiation Fee Changed and Other Business Transacted at Meeting Last Night.

At a very enthusiastic special meeting of members of the Atlantic Yacht Club held last evening in the Mayor's office at the City Hall, Commodore James F. Post presiding and Mr. R D Cronly acting as secretary, it was decided to change the initiation fee from $20 to $12 and to make the season's dues $3. this special dispensation to continue until July 15th.

Among other things discussed was the matter of improvements to the club's property at Wrightsville beach, and the governing board was invested with authority to rebuild the club pier, which was destroyed by the storm of 1899, and also to make other material improvements to the club grounds and building.

The meeting adjourned subject to call of the Commodore.

Norfolk lost the game to Newport news yesterday afternoon in a score of seven to twelve.

That is better news than the fact that Wilmington took the second game from Portsmouth yesterday by a score of twelve to nine. Norfolk has maintained a winning streak ever since the opening of the season and has stood at the top of the per centage column and looked defiantly at her more humble neighbors below. It is good news, too, because Wilmington has remained comfortably toward the top and expects in the future to outstrip the "Sdippers from the good ship Mary Jane" and take the pennant position for itself—an expectation which is reasonably grounded and perfectly in keeping with the determination of every man on Manager Peschau's team.

But to the game yesterday. It was a rather poor exhibition, and while there is some manner of truth in the general opinion that "any game is a good one in which Wilmington wins" there were numbers of people at Hilton yesterday who were far from satisfied with the article of ball furnished.

Martin, the plucky little pitcher for the Brownies, went up in a balloon in the second and allowed the Giants to score at will. One base runner was forced in on balls to the batter, and the Portsmouth twirler was hit all over the garden. It looked much like a walk over for the locals until the fourth inning, when "Cy" Vorhees, for the home team, went all to pieces and was "willowed" all over the diamond. He steadied down later, however, and pitched a fairly good game He is not in good trim yet, but will be a No. 1 later.

The sensational catch of the day was made by Delaney in centre field in the last inning when three Brownies were on bases and a score looked inevitable. He made a long run for the ball and secured it after losing his footing and falling to the ground. Stafford's work at the bat was good and but for his cleverness with the stick, Wilmington might have lost the game.

In the first inning Cranston, Crockett and McGinnis were thrown out in one, two, three order, and it was about the same story for Weaver, Westlake and Kemmer and Murray for the Brownies.

In the second, Stafford hit to centre for two bags and on error got third; Thackara hit out to deep left and Stafford scored; Delaney flew out to right; Warren and Clayton walked; Vorhees singled to centre, scoring Warren; Cranston walked, forcing Vorhees to second; Crockett walked forcing Clayton home. McGinnis singled to short upon whose error Cranston and Vorhees scored; Stafford walked, advancing McGinnis. Thackara hit to third and on wild throw to first, Crockett and McGinnis scored; Thackara attempted second and was thrown out. For Portsmouth Knau, Lipp and Martin flew out in short order.

In the third, Delaney was thrown out from right; Warren walked and stole second; Clayton fanned and Vorhees flew out to right. For Portsmouth, Swanson fanned; Watson was thrown out from short; Weaver singled to right; Westlake hit safe to umpire; Kemmer hit to third forcing out Weaver.

In the fourth Cranston went out to left; Crockett hit to second and safe on error of first; McGinnis flew and to right; Stafford walked forcing Crockett to second; Thackara fanned. Portsmouth took advantage of Vorhees' absence in the air and Murray singled past short; Knau walked; Lipp hit safe to right; Martin hit to second forcing Lipp and scoring Murray; Swander hit down to plate and on ineffectual throw to first; Knau scored; Watson singled to right and Martin scored; Weaver hit for two bags, scoring Swander; Westlake hit hit to centre and Watson and Weaver scored; Kemmer went out from short and Murray fanned.

In the fifth Delaney flew out to short; Warren walked and stole second; Clayton flew out to left Vorhees hit out to second. For the Brownies Knau walked; Lipp bunted and was thrown out; Martin hit third and safe on wild throw; Swanders and Watson fanned.

In the sixth, Cranston walked; Crockett sacrificed, McGinnis flew out to centre; Stafford singled to short and Thackara went out from short. For Portsmouth Weaver went out from short; Westlake singled past third; Kemmer hit to third and went out on beautiful double from Warren to Crocket to Stafford.

In the seventh, Delaney, Warren and Clayton went out in short order and for Portsmouth Murray walked; Knau hit safe on short's error; Lipp fanned; Martin flew out and to left; Swander hit to centre for two bags, scoring Knau and Murray; Watson went out from second.

In the eighth, Vorhees flew out to centre; Cranston singled to left; Crocket hit hot over second and stole it; McGinnis popped up a foul to catcher; Stafford singled to left for three bags, scoring Cranston and Crockett; Thackara singled to left, scoring Stafford; Delany hit to short forcing out Thackara. For Portsmouth Weaver, Westlake and Murray went out in short order, leaving Kemmer, who, had walked, dead on second.

In the ninth Warren singled past third; Clayton forced him out at second; Vorhees hit safe to right; Cranston hit to left, who made a beautiful catch; Clayton got third on wild pitch; Crockett walked and McGinnis singled to centre scoring Clayton and Vorhees; Stafford went out from third.

For Portsmouth, Knau walked; Lipp fanned; Martin flew out to left; Swanders hit safe to centre; Watson hit safe to left and the bases were filled; Weaver hit high to centre, and Delaney by a phenomenal running catch, which set the bleacheries wild, retired the side.

Notes of the Home Game.

"Bill" Watson, a Wilmington boy, played first base for the Brownies and did well. Gates, who was injured in Thursday's game, was unable to take the field and Watson filled his place, Kemmer going to Gates' position at third and Watson to Kemmer's at first. He was clever with the stick yesterday, and would make a valuable addition to Portsmouth's team for the season.

Clayton's error at short in yesterday's game fully demonstrated to the Wilmington "fans" that the very best in the business sometimes make mistakes. It was Clayton's first for the season, which is a remarkable record for the difficult position in which he plays.

O'Steen will likely report at New port News with Wilmington's team next week. A telegram was received from him yesterday.

Umpire Clark continues to be all right. He is a favorite with the Wilmington "fans," but sometimes brushes us seemingly hard.

Foreman and either Thackara or Cranston will be Wilmington's battery to day. You should see "Brownie" pitch. If there is one thing Portsmouth does dread, it is Foreman. He is a hard proposition for any team to solve.

The locals leave to morrow morning for Newport News and Portsmouth goes home to meet Raleigh; Richmond goes to Norfolk. For the last half of the week, Wilmington goes to Norfolk, Raleigh to Richmond and Newport to Portsmouth.

WILL CONSOLIDATE.

Atlantic National and National Bank of Wilmington Will Likely Become One.

A STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

Is Called for May 27th at Which Question Will be Proposed—Circulars Issued by Directors of the Institutions. Details Unobtainable.

A sensation was sprung upon local financiers and the public generally yesterday afternoon when it was announced with authority that a movement was on foot, with every prospect of succesful culmination, to consolidate the Atlantic National and Wilmington National banks, two of the leading institutions of their character in the city, with a combined capital stock of $225,000, the Atlantic having $125,000 of the amount and the Wilmington National, $100,000.

The following notices to stockholders of a meeting of the two banks to be held simultaneously at 11 A. M., on May 27th, and an accompanying circular with each contain all the particulars now obtainable as to the basis upon which the proposed consolidation will be made:

THE NATIONAL BANK OF WILMINGTON.

DEAR SIR:—Please take notice that a meeting of the stockholders of The National Bank of Wilmington will be held in the President's office on Monday, May 27, 1901, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of allowing each stockholder to vote upon the subject of uniting the business of this bank with The Atlantic National Bank either by liquidation or by consolidation. By order of the Board of Directors. JNO. S. ARMSTRONG, President, and Chairman of the Board.

To the Patrons of the National Bank of Wilmington:

It is proposed that the business of The National Bank of Wilmington and The Atlantic National Bank be consolidated in order to reduce taxes and save expenses thereby increasing the profit to the stockholders. With this end in view, the Directors in this Bank have purchased stock in The Atlantic National Bank and it is proposed by both banks to continue the business under the charter of The Atlantic National Bank. It is also proposed that the Board of Directors of The Atlantic National Bank be increased in order that this Bank have as full representation as the present Directors of The Atlantic National Bank. No change is proposed with reference to the policy of the business.

J W. Norwood has consented to serve as President and John S. Armstrong has agreed to serve as Vice President of the consolidated business Thanking you for your former patronage, and soliciting a continuation, we are,

Respectfully,
J. W Norwood, P. L. Bridgers,
D L. Gore, H. B. Short,
G. A Norwood, S P. McNair,
E J. Powers, C W. Worth,
H. L. Vollers, J. L. Coker,
W. E Springer,
Directors
Andrew Moreland, F. J Haywood,
Cashier. Asst Cashier.

Officers of both institutions and prominent members of the boards of directors refused to discuss the matter of consolidation yesterday beyond the information contained in the above circulars. It was learned, however, that the banking house of the consolidated institution will be the handsome building now occupied by the National Bank of Wilmington, northwest corner of Front and Princess streets. An inquiry as to the probable reduction of clerical force was made, but, of course, nothing satisfactory can be learned just yet. The Atlantic bank employs about twenty five men and the Wilmington bank about fifteen.

It is expected that after the stock holders' meeting, it will be about thirty days until the consolidated institution under the name of the "Atlantic National Bank" will be in full operation.

SUPERIOR COURT YESTERDAY

Engaged All Day in Continued Hearing of the Carter Damage Suit—Will Conclude To-day.

Another entire day was consumed in the Superior Court yesterday in a hearing of the case of Carter against the Cape Fear Lumber Company for $10 000 alleged damages, reference to which was made at length in these columns yesterday morning.

All the evidence was in by noon yesterday and argument by counsel was begun but not concluded when court took an adjournment for the day at 6 o'clock last evening. Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy was speaking for the plaintiff when the hour for adjournment was reached and he will finish this morning. Judge Hoke will then charge the jury and a decision is expected later in the day.

For the defendant yesterday morning Messrs. C. H. Cooper, R. A. Parsley, W. T. Sears, O. A. Wiggins and J. A. Arringdale testified as expert mill men and the last named as to the conditions and circumstances of the accident by which Carter claims damages. Richard McPherson and John Corbett, both colored and colaborers with the plaintiff, also testified as to the device used in loading into the dry kiln at the Cape Fear mill.

For the other side the plaintiff was recalled and the evidence closed. George L. Peschau, Esq, addressed the jury for the plaintiff, and concluded his speech after the dinner recess. Robert Ruark, Esq., then spoke for about forty minutes in behalf of the defendant, and Iredell Meares, Esq., followed in a speech of about an hour also for the defendant. Mr. Bellamy began his speech just before adjournment and spoke for about twenty minutes.

Court will be convened at 10 o'clock this morning, and the concluding business transacted preparatory to adjournment for the term this evening.

M'MULLEN-MILLER LUMBER CO.

Mammoth Plant Doing Tremendous Business at Bowden's, Duplin County.

Mr. Leroy B. Rogers, of the D. L. Gore Company, who returned this week from a trip up the Wilmington and Weldon railroad, had occasion while away to go over the extensive plant of the McMullen-Miller Lumber Company at Bowden's, N. C, established a little less than two years ago.

Mr. Rogers says the plant is easily the best adapted and most up to date in the South Atlantic States. From 300 to 400 men find employment there and from seventy-five to one hundred thousand feet of timber are cut per day. The shipments average from five to ten cars per day and the establishment of the mill at that point has done wonders for the surrounding country. Practically a new town has been made of Bowden's and the A. C. L. station has been moved nearer to the mill for convenience sake.

The company operates a large supply store and a hotel in connection with the extensive plant and everything is as systematic as a government department office. Mr. W. H. McMullen, of Minneapolis, Minn., is the clever and attentive manager and treasurer of the company, and is a man of wonderful executive and business ability.

The company is now constructing a railroad from Bowden's to Newton Grove, a distance of about 17 miles, and this is now practically completed. It is laid with substantial iron and a regular locomotive is run over the track.

The Morning Star.

BY WILLIAM H. BERNARD.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 27.

TAKING A GLOOMY VIEW OF IT.

Gloomy views of England's industrial future are becoming so common that they have almost become the order of the day. The writer who takes a hopeful, cheerful view is the exception. Occasionally one does but he also admits that England to hold her own will have to struggle, and bases his hope on contingencies that may or may not materialize. One writer in giving his views recently contended that England was not in any danger of losing her position as a great iron and steel maker or of being supplanted by this country because she has the advantage of America in having her iron and coal so close together and having her iron mines and iron plants so near the sea, making short hauls to shipping ports and consequently cheap transportation, while in America both the iron and the coal have, with few exceptions, and these in the South, to be hauled long distances and then have long distance hauls to the seaboard. Another cheering reflection with him was that as the top deposits of iron, which he thinks, cannot last long, are exhausted the cost of mining will become greater, which will make the cost of iron greater and the cost of production of the finished article proportionately greater, all of which will be to the advantage of the British iron and steel maker. The majority of British iron and steel makers are not impressed with this view, for it doesn't explain how it is that with all this writer's alleged advantages for Great Britain, American pig iron can be delivered in England for less money than the British smelters can afford to deliver it at the mills, and it does not take into account the American genius for constructing machinery to handle large quantities of iron economically, which is and will continue to be no small factor in the cheap production of iron and steel manufactures.

The London Standard believes there is a hope of saving England's trade supremacy, but that it is dependent upon suppressing American competition, and therefore it favors the idea broached in France and Austria-Hungary of an international combination or trade alliance of European nations against America, which would amount virtually to an international boycot of American manufactures, and where possible of American foodstuffs.

These are illustrations of the views taken by even the hopeful, but it will be seen that both are coupled with conditions that are not considered, and by other conditions that may not be practicable for the reason that some of the nations which it is proposed to invite are as jealous of others as they are fearful of America. There is as great industrial rivalry between the German and British manufacturers as there is between the Briton and the American, for the Briton is to-day suffering quite as much or more in his home market from German competition than he is from American competition, because the German invaded the British home market before the American did.

If such an alliance as is proposed were effected it could not last long for inequalities would result from it in practice, which would soon cause dissatisfaction and the whole thing would fall to pieces. Each of these nations, even with such an alliance, would be looking out for its own interest, just as each one of them now is in China, which makes it so difficult for them to come to an agreement in plundering that country, and as to the amount of the plunder each should have.

While we are all interested in the industrial outlook for England because there is a connection between that and the expansion of our trade on general lines, since she is the nation with which at present and in the near future we will have most to compete against, we of the South are at present most interested in the prospective situation of the cotton trade and the part the British mills are to play in that. Some of the cotton manufacturers do not take any more assuring view of that than some of the iron and steel men do of their ability to hold a first place in that industry.

As bearing upon this we reproduce the following from the Atlanta Journal, because it gives some interesting information showing how the progress of cotton manufacturing in this country, especially in the South, has been gradually but surely undermining British supremacy. It says:

"Mr. S Andrew, secretary of the Oldham Master Spinner's Association, is certainly in a position to speak advisedly when he discusses the British trade in cotton goods and in a recent article he gives some very interesting facts concerning it.

"He states that he thought Great Britain has increased the number of her cotton spindles by 5,000,000 the rest of the world has added 22,000,000 to the number it had in 1885.

"Great Britain still leads all other countries in cotton manufacturing, but whereas she once, and that not very long ago, and more than one-half of all the cotton spindles in the world, she now has only 45,000,000 against 60,000,000 operated by her competitors. Secretary Andrew predicts a still further relative loss of her cotton goods trade. One of his main reasons for this opinion is that the hours of labor in British cotton mills are so much shorter than those in the mills of other leading cotton manufacturing countries.

"The former are limited to 56½ hours a week, while the latter average 70½. This fact, together with the operation of 150,000,000 more spindles, shows that the rest of the world is making and selling a vastly larger amount of cotton goods than Great Britain.

"It also shows that British exports of cotton goods have fallen enormously in recent years. In 1890 they amounted to 258,000,000 pounds but in 1900 they were only 158,000,000. In 1896 the exports of British piece goods amounted to 5,208,000,000 yards, and in 1900 they were 5,440,000,000. This was an increase it is true, but an increase of only about 4 per cent. which was small in comparison with the growth of cotton exports from other countries. Referring to the United States particularly, Secretary Andrew says:

"In America the increase of cotton piece goods exports during these years has been near 50 per cent., or in other words, from 281,000,000 yards in 1896 to 418,000,000 yards in 1899. There must have been a very great increase of looms and spindles in America during recent years to have shown such an amount of exports, in addition to the great increase of its home trade, considering that America at one time was not considered a serious competitor. Since the hours of labor in England were altered America has increased its number of spindles north and south to nearly 20,000,000; indeed, America has just doubled its spindles since 1876, and the number of hours worked in that country is anywhere from 60 to 66. Now, considering the economical restrictions under which American labols, this increase of spindles and of cotton cloth goods is astounding; and it is evident that if America were to adopt free trade, as we have done, seeing that they can grow their own cotton, the British cotton trade would not be worth many years' purchase. The recent increase of spindles in the Southern States where the cotton is grown is by no means a consoling fact to the British cotton spinner.'"

"Another discouraging feature of the outlook for the British cotton trade is the fact that Great Britain has very few regions among all her colonies from which she can draw supplies of cotton.

"Secretary Andrew's gloomy views seem to be based on facts and probabilities."

With England, as this writer says, it is not competition with America alone, but against the world, for every country which establishes cotton mills becomes her competitor, for these countries will all seek other markets for the goods they make. If the mills continue to increase in other countries they must decrease in England, unless England can make cotton goods and deliver them in other markets for less than her competitors can. While she can do that she may hold the leading place, but when she ceases to do that she may begin to retire.

In time the world, with its increasing population and its probable betterment, will need more cotton and cotton goods than it does now, but in the meantime, at the present rate of increase in cotton mills, the needs will for sometime be more than supplied, and hence it will become a question of cheap production to command the trade. The cheapest producer, other things being equal, will get the most of it, just as England got the most of it heretofore because she had little competition.

With the mills near the cotton fields, using machinery in the production of cotton as well as in its manufacture, this country ought to lead the world in the low cost of production of goods, and thus be in a position to capture a large if not the largest part of the world's cotton trade. That's the kind of "expansion" we should aim at, and that does not depend on grabbing the territory of other people.

RUSSIA'S MOVE.

According to the latest dispatches Russia and France seem to be taking the solution of the Chinese problem into their own hands, and as for Russia she seems to be playing a sagacious game. She is to furnish the money to pay the indemnity to the other powers. France is to help her to pay it, and a mortgage on Manchuria is to be Russia's security. Where France comes in in the transaction does not yet appear, but she is not going to put up her millions without an understood quid pro quo.

There was objection by the other powers to Russia's asserting dominion over Manchuria, but there can be no objection to her stepping in as the friend of China, and also of the other powers, helping her out with money and taking a lien on her real estate as security. If this arrangement be made, agreement be made as to each Government's claim for indemnity, and they get the money, the question will be settled as to them, and Russia will have a pretty strong grip on China, placed as she will be under obligations to Russia.

Free right of way, which amounts to a practical protectorate or dominion over Manchuria, is a necessity for Russia, because without this the trans-Siberian railway would be in constant jeopardy, and the Port Arthur concession amount to but little. The peopling and development of Siberia, on which Russia has set her heart, depends on the unrestricted operation of that road and its branches present and prospective, and hence Russia having already invested about $300,000,000 in that scheme can aford to invest more to secure that and the grand results that are anticipated from it.

With Southern Siberia peopled and developed Russia will become the mightest empire on the earth, and one of unbounded possibilities. It will make her to the Eastern hemisphere what the United States are to the Western, and both in time time will become the industrial and commercial monarchs of the world.

MR. BABCOCK MORE CONVINCED.

Mr. Babcock, of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, who declares that the protective duties on iron and steel must be repealed, has returned to Washington after a somewhat extended trip through the West. He says he is more fully convinced than ever that he is right and that tariff reduction on Trust controlled articles is a necessity. A Washington dispatch quotes him, in speaking of his intercourse with manufacturers and others, as saying:

"The only opposition encountered came from a class of people who look upon the tariff with a reverence to be paid a Chinese Joss—to be admired, but not touched. The farmers and the laboring classes are deeply interested in this question. It is impossible for them to understand how these great aggregations of capital come about. The question will be brought squarely to the Republican party in the next campaign: 'Why do you permit a tariff to remain on articles which can be produced here cheaper than elsewhere?' What answer will be made to that proposition?"

There is little doubt that Mr. Babcock has fully determined on moving for a repeal of the duties on iron and steel, and that he has had ample encouragement from Western Republicans, the majority of whom do not like this tariff taxation a bit better than Democrats do, but have supported it either because they were humbugged into the belief that it was necessary and would be good for the country at large or because it was a party measure and they supported it from party fealty, which, by the way, has had about as much to do with the perpetuation of the protective policy as anything else.

But the necessity plea has been negatively answered by the fact that our manufacturers have been for some time successfully competing with the manufacturers of other countries, with all their "pauper labor," &c., and as for the general benefit, all they can see of that is the organization of scores of Trusts which have been taking advantage of this protection to put into operation a merciless system of extortion upon the people.

They have learned a good deal about this tariff business, and when Mr. Babcock moves for the repeal of the protective duties on iron and steel, they will naturally be disposed to ask why he should not pursue the logical course and demand the repeal of the protective duties on all Trust controlled articles, where it has been demonstrated that protection is not necessary and serves only to enable the Trusts to rob the people.

The Standard Oil Company employs 14.316 persons and pays them wages amounting in the aggregate to $6,717,087. Last year the stockholders in that concern divided among themselves $48,000,000 in dividends, in addition to dividends on $10,000,000 of preferred stock. The share of John D. Rockefeller, who owns 31 per cent. of the stock, was $14,880,000, or over twice as much as all the employes received.

R B. JOHN.

Robbed the Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying 'Electric Bitters;' and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents, guaranteed, at R. R BELLAMY'S Drug Store.

— Concord Standard: A nugget of gold weighing seven pounds has recently been found near Condor, Montgomery county. There is said to be good quantities of the yellow metal thereabout.

— Goldsboro Argus: Many friends in this city and section of our venerable countyman, Col J. T. Kennedy, will deeply condole with him in the death of his estimable wife, the beloved companion of a long life time, which occurred in this city on Wednesday morning, aged 74 years.

— Scotland Neck Commonwealth: Mr. E Shields has sold his knitting mill to Messrs Edward Jenkins and J E Woodard. The mill has been in operation about eleven months, and has doubled its capacity. At first the output was from fifty to sixty dozen per day, and now it is one hundred and twenty dozen per day.

— Jonesboro Progress: There is an old negro man living here who is 84 years old and still works and makes his own living. He is a basket maker by trade, and his name is Henry McLeod. He went to Fayetteville once, and says it's the only time he ever was ten miles from home. He is the father of eight children and has fifty-two grandchildren.

— Nashville Graphic: Buck Deans was tried here Wednesday before Squires J. C. Harper, L. M. Conyers and W. H. Proctor on a charge of the killing of W. B Ferrell, in Jackson's township, in March of 1900. Quite a number of witnesses were introduced but no material facts were brought to light, and after short arguments by counsel for State and defence, Deans was acquitted.

— Mount Airy News: The farmers have planted lots of corn, but it has been so cold it is feared much replanting will be necessary. —— The wheat on red land in White Plain sections looks very promising. We have considerable land in Surry adapted to the growth of wheat. ——Snow in the roads in Carroll, our neighboring county in Virginia, was five feet deep in some places Tuesday. Of course this was where the snow drifted. It was impossible to travel some of these roads Monday and Tuesday.

— Washington Gazette: One of the most remarkable changes in drunkenness was called to our attention to-day. From all time it has been the custom of the country people who were in the habit of drinking to come to town to get their liquor, and they came sober, but the reverse is the truth now, and since the moonshine business has been so prosperous in Beaufort county it is no uncommon sight to see them coming to town drunk and returning to their homes sobered up. In other words, years ago and until a short time ago, our country friends came to town to purchase the liquor, but now they purchase it in the country and come to town to get sober.

— Charlotte News: Roy Brumfield died Wednesday. As mentioned in yesterday's News, the boy never spoke nor regained consciousness after he was shot. The doctors made heroic efforts to save the little sufferer, but his wound was unto death. —— A very distressing affair occurred yesterday in Union county, near Antioch church. Thomas Matthison, a well known young man of that section, was shot and instantly killed by his brother, Joseph Matthison. The shooting was accidental. The young men were out hunting. Thomas was in the act of picking up a bird which he had killed, when his brother's gun was accidentally discharged by the lock catching in his clothing. The load struck Thomas Matthison in the head, killing him instantly.

— Newbern Journal: An unusually large sturgeon for these waters was brought in yesterday by two colored fishermen, Bill Anderson and G. R Nelson. The huge fish was 8 feet long and weighed about 350 pounds. It was sold to Fernie Gaskill & Co. This huge fish was caught down the Neuse, near Slocum's Creek, in a sturgeon net. The fish was gotten into the small boat after hard work, by means of a boat hook in the fish's gills. The roe is much the most valuable part of the sturgeon and it was estimated that this one would furnish a keg of roe weighing 60 pounds. Roe is used in making caviar a dish now much in demand in this country and a staple article of food in Russia.

— Raleigh News and Observer: J. C Moser & Co., of Harrisburg, Pa., Tuesday bought the rich gold mine recently discovered near Troy, N. C., on the lands of Currie and Jones, for $34,000. The output of this mine last week, working five hands and two Chilian mills, was six and a half pounds of gold in amalgum, valued at $840. The expenses for the week were $30, leaving a net profit of $810. —— Vance Pearson, an employe of the Laura Glenn cotton mills, was killed at Shelby Tuesday evening. He was working in the race cleaning out the water wheel when some one turned on the water, which hurled him against the wheel, causing death instantly. The turning on of the water on a man under a wheel while at work seems to have been a culpable piece of negligence.

— "A Chicago ex-groceryman was lately arrested for sandbagging." "That's nothing wonderful." "But when his sandbag was examined it was filled with the sugar he used to sell."

—— George Gould looms up as a railroad king almost before anybody had suspected it. Through a series of purchases, combinations and other deals, all quietly made, he now controls what is said to be the most extensive railroad system in the world. At present the mileage of the roads controlled by him is in excess of 15,000 miles, while plans are now going forward that will increase the mileage dominated by him to 22,500.—Savannah News, Dem.

—— And now the people of Alabama have called a convention to revise the Constitution, which means to eliminate the negro vote. The negroes themselves took very little interest in the movement, we are told, and many of the white Republicans were in favor of it on the ground that to get rid of the negro was to get rid of the great party incubus and to give the Republican party a better chance. The Southern people have for many years groaned under the menace of negro rule, and they are tired of it. They have determined to rid themselves of this disturbing factor in their politics, and the people of the North seem indisposed to interfere.—Richmond Leader, Dem.

Discouraging the Book Agent.

"Got books?" snapped the diminutive guard at the threshold of the big office.

"Yes, young man; I have books," responded the woman with the portfolio. "Just step aside. I'm going in to see your employer."

"Afore yer goes," said the boy, still covering the slit, "I wants to tell yer dat de boss just upset his ink. He ain't in no lovin mood."

"Oh, he will listen to my demonstration."

"Maybe he will, but I wants to tell yer dat he just got a telephone call sayin dat burglars had carried off de waluables of his house."

"Still I"—

"Den de news just came dat his trotter run away an smashed up de trap an coachman."

"That is very bad, but"—

"Just afore yer come a young fellar rushes in an tells de boss dat his naptha launch has been fired by tramps."

"I sympathize with him, and maybe"—

"De boss goes to look at his watch an finds de mainspring broken."

"Gracious! But"—

"Den comes de news dat S an Z stock has dropped 20 points. De boss finds dat mice has gnawed up his new insurance calendar. De glue upsets on a thousand stamps."

"Terrible! Yet"—

"But wait! Just as you comes up stairs de boss asks over de telephone whether it's a boy or girl. Somebody says twins and"—

But the book agent had vanished. The boss came out and patted the boy on the head.

"Patsy, you are a brick! Take the rest of the afternoon off. Here's fare to Lincoln park."—Chicago News.

The Poodle and the Lions.

"I notice that Automobile Montgomery says that horses often make a dive for the corn he paints," remarked one art league student to another.

"Well, there might be some truth in it," said the second. "I saw a little incident at the art institute the other day that made me think of Mr. Montgomery's proud boast. You know those big lions on the sides of the steps, the work of Kemeys, are pretty lifelike. I was standing looking at them when a little white poodle came down the steps in the wake of a woman with stylish clothes on. The poodle had a gold collar around his neck and was altogether one of the tiniest, dandified specimens of a dog that you could find. He walked up to one of the lions, settled back on his hind legs, and looked at the big stone beast. Then he sniffed and glanced around inquiringly. All at once he made up his mind. He made a fierce rush for the lion, barking as viciously and as loud as a dog six inches long could bark. He positively swelled up and appeared about to explode with wrath.

"There you are. If Kenneys' lions so excited a poodle dog, it may be that horses will eat Montgomery's corn pictures."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

RED IN THE BLOOD

is the sign of life, of vital force, of the force that life has, of the force that life is.

When the red is lacking, life is weak, the spirits are weak, the body is weak.

Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil puts red in the blood and life in the body.

It's the food you can turn into muscle and bone and nerve. It gives you the mastery over your usual food—you want that. What is life worth if you've got to keep dosing yourself as an invalid?

Red in the blood! get red in the blood!

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Cotton had an irregular course to-day and the bulk of business done, represented withdrawals of a week end nature. On the first call the feeling was steady with prices two to five points higher on fairly active buying led by the shorts and Liverpool interests. As investment support failed to materialize and as the foreign buying soon subsided, the market eased off later and by noon was heavy with a net decline of one to two points apparent. Sentiment was very much mixed and few new trades were made. On the one hand were firm English market advices, a much smaller movement South and a belief that a large short interest existed on the May and July positions. On the other were very bad cloth market reports from Fall River, absence of speculative support and rather pessimistic crop advices. In all some 40,000 May notices were sent out in the morning, but were readily cared for by a Greek house, and therefore had no depressing influence on the market. Large lines of May obligations were settled up during the forenoon. The new crop positions were not extensively dealt in. Toward the close demand for near months by the shorts gave the market a firmer undertone and rallied prices decidedly. The weekly report of Secretary Hester was bullishly construed. The market was finally steady with prices net three points higher to one point lower.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Cotton quiet; middling uplands 8 5 16c.

HOMEMADE DRESSES.

SOME FACTS ABOUT CUTTING AND MAKING A BASQUE.

The Circular Skirt Preferred to Wear With This Style of Waist and How It Is Made—Suggestions About Measuring.

[Copyright, 1901, by American Press Association.]

As the basque is to be one of the great favorites of this season, it will be well to know how to make the new style of that garment. The newest of them has no darts or forms in front and gains its graceful shape by means of one seam up the front, reaching to the shoulder, and in that way conforming it to the figure. The way in which this is done is to cut a lining on the usual lines and baste it and try it on, and then draw the front into position according to the diagram and pin it into the proper shape. The lining should be wrong side out, to allow the dressmaker to draw in the seams. The seam should come just half way the length of the shoulder and end an inch and a half from the front. The seam, to keep it smooth, must have a line of featherbone all the length, and even on the outside it is an addition to have a row of the same kind of cable cording, and this makes a handsome trimming to go all around the whole garment. Buttons close it. The back is cut in four pieces and is a shape familiar to us all, for it never goes altogether out of fashion, but the fronts are new. The seams are sewed very neatly and pressed flat, and the short postillion is finished in the most mannish fashion possible. The featherbone cording should not be put on the ends of the postillion. All the inside seams are bound with narrow lustring ribbon in the approved way. The case belt is absolutely necessary. The collar can be whatever kind the wearer desires, but the best taste would suggest that it should be of the material and trimmed like the rest of the basque.

The two centerpieces in the back are cut with a "jog" one inch deep, and this is sewed along with the other piece, which forms the back side piece. When done, these are folded over and pressed firmly and finished off with buttons. The postillion can be made larger if so desired. The sleeves to basques should be in tailor shape, inasmuch as nearly all basques are to be worn with tailor made skirts. Those in the model are not trimmed otherwise than by having flaring cuffs, and they are stitched in several rows, both at the joining and at the bottom. All tailor sleeves are slightly fulled at the shoulders. In sewing them in great care must be taken to get the top shoulder seam so that it comes directly in the middle of slope in the back at the shoulder, where the cross is. Every seam must be firmly basted all around the edges and then all the different parts of the waist basted together. Basting has a great deal to do with the proper finish of any tailor made garment. It is in just these things that the difference between amateur and skilled work consists. When all the seams are firmly sewed together, the edges are to be carefully trimmed off so that both sides are exactly alike. Then the finishing of the bottom begins and is a careful job. A bias band of buckram is tacked along the inner part, and a piece of silk or of the same material as that on the outside is stitched on together. This is turned up and basted to the inner side, and the whole is pressed solidly after having been moistened with a sponge. When the final pressing is done, the silk may be hemmed down to the lining.

The skirt preferred to wear with this style of waist is what is generally known as the circular skirt. It is cut in three pieces only—the front breadth and the two side ones. The front one is cut on the length of the cloth, and if it is possible it is cut so that the fold comes in the middle of the front. This makes a handsome skirt, but unless of extra firm stuff is apt to sag at the center of the two back breadths. To cut the front take a measure of the length of the dress as it should be and then from the fold in the middle measure 10 inches on the double at the bottom and 5 at the top. This will give 10 inches at top and 20 at the bottom. The two circular pieces are cut from the open fold of the cloth. The outer line shows how the cloth should be placed for the skirt to be cut out of it. The dotted line through the center shows where the fold of the cloth comes and that the two back seams come on the bias. The two which are to be sewed to the bias front breadth are on the straight cross of the goods. When the material is not wide enough to cut the back breadths without piecing, it is better to cut the goods from the top down and piece it where the crosses are marked.

How They Treated Washington.

As an example of the progress of medicine during the last century The Medical Record cites the case of Washington's last illness. He died of laryngeal diphtheria, and the treatment was, it would seem, for an old man sick with a disease, very exhausting to the vitality. It consisted in the abstraction of between two and three quarts of blood, the administration of about 20 grains of calomel and 6 grains of tartar emetic and an injection, with external application of blister. And yet so strong was Washington's constitution that he survived this treatment for 24 hours.

EXPECTANT MOTHERHOOD

McDonald, Ga., July 18, 1900.

I advise every suffering woman to take Wine of Cardui. While I was going with my other children I was compelled to stay in bed for days at a time but this time I have taken Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught and have been able to do all my housework without any trouble. I am expecting every day to be confined. My husband thinks Wine of Cardui is the best medicine in the world. He takes a dose of Thedford's Black-Draught every night and gives some to the children. He has not lost a day from work this year. He tells his friends about your wonderful medicines and I tell my lady friends to use your Wine of Cardui.

Mrs. GEORGIA LEE.

There are thousands of women who shrink in terror at the thought of the baby's coming. But childbirth is one of the workings of Nature and it was not intended to imply torture and agony to the heroic mothers of the race. The woman who suffers torture during pregnancy and at childbirth has usually, by some indiscretion, injured the organs which make her a woman. Neglect of menstrual irregularities leads to ovarian pains, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea, and the period of pregnancy is necessarily distressing under these conditions.

WINE OF CARDUI

will regulate the menstrual function perfectly and eventually make the generative organs strong and healthy. Pregnancy and childbirth have no terrors for the woman who takes this pure Wine. A strong healthy womb will bring its precious burden to maturity with little or no pain. A healthy woman need not fear for childbirth. Wine of Cardui completely cures all these troubles familiarly known as "female diseases" and equips the sensitive generative organs for pregnancy and childbirth. It will save any mother much pain and suffering. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles.

Two Could Do It.

Basel, Switzerland, was visited a few years ago by an adventurous Frenchman whose ruling passion is the ascent of mountains shunned by most other tourists who value at least their soundness of limb. He tried strenuously to scale the Gopaltenhorn, for the sake of carrying his name upon the peak, but all his efforts were vain.

The next year he returned to the attack, and eventually, by taking many precautions, arrived at the summit. On his next appearance at the table d'hote he recounted his exploit to the company and informed them that he had planted on the spot a blue silk flag containing his name embroidered in large characters.

An Englishman, who had listened silently, rose from the table and marched out of the hotel. Two days afterward a parcel was delivered to the adventurous Gaul. He opened it and found inside his blue silk flag, which his English neighbor at the table d'hote had won from the peak by his own pluck and daring.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of every-day living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, languor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness, especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken down constitution be replaced and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, CELERY-CELIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

The Morning Star.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 27

CHINA'S EMPRESS DOWAGER.

Has Appointed a Board of National Administration to Relieve Her of Public Functions.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The following cablegram has been received at the State Department from Mr. Squire, the United States charge at Pekin, dated to day:

"The Empress Dowager has appointed a board of national administration to relieve her of her public functions. They embrace three members of the cabinet now with the Empress at Sian Fu, and Prince Ching, Viceroy Li and Prince Kung, who are now in Pekin."

This news is regarded as of importance, indicating, as it does, the relinquishment by the Empress Dowager of the arbitrary powers she heretofore has exercised. It also is apparent that she has now placed herself in a position to avoid direct responsibility to the foreigners, for whatever may happen in the future the board will have to bear the brunt of any complaint. It is felt that the appointment of this board will make it much easier for the foreign ministers to transact business with the Chinese government. The three members of the cabinet now at Sian Fu include the notorious Jung Lu, who was one of the most active in the outbreak against the foreigners last Summer. One of the other members of this council is seventy years old and is said to be greatly debilitated. The third member has been at least lukewarm toward foreign interests. The choice of these three is looked upon as likely to counteract the good which Li Hung Chang and the others may accomplish.

Chinese Troops Re-appear.

PEKIN, April 26.—The Chinese regulars who retired beyond the Great Wall, have re appeared at another point within the international area. Strong representations have been made to the Chinese plenipotentiaries in regard to the necessity for their immediate retirement. The French force is in readiness to renew the operations but has been ordered to await the result of the imperial edicts.

GERMANY AND AMERICA.

Expansion of the German Navy in Preparation for a Contest With the United States.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, April 26.—The Saturday Review will say to morrow that "the expansion of the German navy, is more in preparation for a contest with the United States than with Great Britain. The readiest causes for future conflicts will be found with the struggle for the partition or the exploitation of the great South American continent."

The Review devotes a page to a description of the resources of South America and Germany, the hundreds of thousands of settlers in Brazil and Chili, and the inability of Germany pursuing her designs in South America without a conflict with the United States. The article concludes with the statement that it would not be good policy for Great Britain to oppose Germany's legitimate aims, and that an alliance with the United States that had for its purpose the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine, "would not only be ludicrously in opposition to our own interests, but it would rightly arouse every other nation to a death struggle against a genuine Anglo-Saxon menace."

AUDACIOUS ROBBERY.

Ten Thousand Dollars in Gold Secured by Two Bold Bad Men.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ANACONDA, MONT., April 26—Two men secured $10,000 in gold early to day in the most audacious robbery ever known here. During the early morning hours they forced the main doors of the "Alaska" saloon, carried out the three hundred pound safe, placed it in an express wagon and drove outside the city limits. After leisurely breaking open the safe and securing its contents, they headed the horse back to the city and escaped.

VALUABLE RELICS OF WASHINGTON.

Correspondence Between Senator Daniel of Virginia and President McKinley.

ARTICLES ORDERED RESTORED

Were Not Seized by the Government, But Held in Trust and Placed for Safe Keeping in the Smithsonian Institution.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Senator John W. Daniel of Virginia, several days ago addressed a letter to President McKinley endorsing the application of General George Washington Custis Lee his sister, for restoration of the relics of General George Washington which General Lee became owner of on the death of his mother, who was the wife of General Robert E. Lee. In reply, President McKinley informs Senator Daniel that it will afford him great satisfaction to have the articles, which are now in the Smithsonian institution, restored "to the present head of a historic family."

The President in his letter says that all the government did was to accept the trust of their custody at a time when the owner could not protect them and they were consequently exposed to the risk of destruction.

Senator Daniel's letter is as follows;

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20, 1901.

Mr. President.

SIR—I have the honor to indorse herewith the application of General George Washington Custis Lee, submitted by me on behalf of Miss Mary Custis Lee, his sister, who has his power of attorney, for restoration of relics of General Washington, which he became owner of on the death of his mother, who is the wife of General R E Lee.

When the House of Representatives passed the resolution in 1869, now thirty-two years ago, against their restoration to General R. E Lee it was under the apparent impression, which it recited, that he owned them and had applied for them. This was a mistake, as is shown in the report of the judiciary committee of the House in 1870

Mrs. Lee had a life tenancy in them and the remainder was in Gen. G. W. C. Lee, as shown in his application for the restoration of the Arlington estate, which Congress honored after judicial decision and purchased from him. By this same title judicially recognized in the Arlington case and congressionally recognized by the purchase of Arlington, these heirlooms descended to him.

Mr. President, you know the character of the Lees—they had rather give than take—and, as 'sectionalism has disappeared.' I am sure you will not deem me presumptuous if I express my conviction that you, who have done so much to this happy end, will (should your right to do so be confirmed by your inquiry) be glad to have these honorable and cherished articles handed over to their rightful heir. With great respect,

Very truly yours,

JOHN W. DANIEL.

In reply the President sent to Senator Daniel the following letter:

MY DEAR SIR—On behalf of George Washington Custis Lee, you have applied to me for the restoration of certain relics of George Washington, now in the Smithsonian institution. These articles came from Mount Vernon and before the civil war were the property of George Washington Parke Custis, the grandson of Martha Washington and the owner of Arlington who on his death in 1857 left them by his will, along with the Arlington estate to his daughter, Mary Ann Randolph Lee, the wife of Robert E Lee, during her natural life and then to his eldest grandson, George Washington Custis Lee, to descend from him, entire and unchanged, to my (his) latest posterity.

The relics were at Arlington when the civil war began, and early in 1862 were turned over to General McDowell, then in command there, by a servant of the Lee family, who became alarmed for their safety. The general, interested in their preservation, sent them to the patent office for safe-keeping, whence they were transferred to their present place of deposit. It does not appear that the government ever took any steps to divert the title of Mrs. Lee and her son to them, or ever claimed any title of its own. All the government did was to accept the trust of their custody at a time when the owner could not protect them and they were consequently exposed to the risk of destruction. The need for such protection having ceased, and the trust voluntarily assumed having been discharged, it will afford us great satisfaction to give direction for the restoration to the present head of a historic family of these cherished heirlooms of the father of his country.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYERS

Will be Launched at Baltimore the Latter Part of Next Month.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Maryland Steel Company, which built the torpedo boat destroyers Worden, Whipple and Truxton, notified the Navy Department to-day that invitations to christen these vessels have been sent to Miss Isabelle Truxton of Norfolk, in the case of the Truxton; Katherine Whipple, Bley of Detroit, in the case of the Whipple and that Mrs. John L Worden, widow of the late Admiral Worden, has been requested to select a suitable person to christen the Worden. Misses Truxton and Sibley are descendants of the officers after whom the warships are named. It is expected that the three destroyers will be launched at the shipyards on Sparrow's Point, Baltimore, the latter part of next month.

MORE EXPLOSIONS AT THE CHEMICAL WORKS.

Eighty Bodies Recovered From the Debris. Still Many Missing—People Flying From the Place

By Cable to the Morning Star.

FRANKFURT, April 26.—By 11 o'clock this morning eighty bodies had been recovered from the debris of the electro chemical works near Griesheim, but there are still many missing. About one hundred and fifty persons were injured, many of them seriously. The work of fighting the flames proceeded throughout the entire night, though the danger of further explosions was regarded as averted at midnight. The search of the ruins continues. The scenes which occurred throughout the night were most distressing. Villagers and survivors are groping about the ruins in search of relatives and comrades and endeavoring to recognize in the charred bodies or dismembered and mutilated corpses the identity of missing friends. The flames gutted Marx and Mueller's chemical factory and a part of the Griesheim color works. A number of children who were hurled by the explosion into the river Main were drowned before the rescuers could reach them. Several firemen are among the victims. A special train with relief firemen and additional doctors and nurses was sent to the scene of the disaster this morning. A number who it was feared had perished reported themselves this morning.

NOON—There was a fresh outbreak of the flames among the ruins at Griesheim, which revived apprehensions, and after the explosion of a great benzine reservoir at 11 o'clock this morning orders were issued that every one in the village of Griesheim and its vicinity must vacate their premises forthwith. The inhabitants fled, panic-stricken, with such possessions as they could hastily collect, most of them coming to Frankfurt. Even the firemen, salvagers and soldiers left the scene of the disaster. The railroad service to Griesheim is suspended on account of the danger.

1:30 P. M.—It transpires that during the panic this morning a number of women and children were thrown down and trampled under foot. The danger of fresh explosions necessarily retards the drawing up of a correct death roll, but the latest reports do not indicate that this is so large as was at first reported.

A TRAIN ROBBER HANGED.

Execution of Black Jack Ketchum—The Rope Broke, But the Fall Pulled His Head Off.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CLAYTON, N. M., April 26.—Thomas E. Ketchum, alias "Black Jack," the train robber, was hanged here at 1 21 P M. to-day. The rope broke, but the fall jerked Ketchum's head off Twenty deputies guarded the jail throughout the night Hundreds of armed men, many of them cowboys from the surrounding country, arrived during the morning, but no demonstration occurred.

Ketchum had been the most noted desperado of the Southwest for many years, and although he was credited with having taken the lives of some of his fellow beings, his execution today was for an attempted train robbery in which nobody was killed.

The crime was committed near Folsom, N. M., August 16th, 1899. Single handed, Ketchum held up a Colorado and Southern passenger train. He ordered the engineer and fireman to uncouple the engine and leave the train. The conductor and mail agent opened fire. Ketchum received the contents of a double-barrelled shotgun in his right arm, but quickly changing the rifle to his left shoulder, he succeeded in wounding both conductor and mail agent. He was captured the next day, tried and given the extreme penalty.

Owing to rumors of organized bands making preparations to rescue their comrade, extreme precautions were taken to hold the prisoner, who was removed from Folsom jail to Clayton this week by special train, under a heavy guard of deputies.

"Black Jack" is said to be the leader of a band of outlaws who committed many train robberies and other raids in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona. This band has been scattered since his arrest, seven or eight having been killed.

NICARAGUA CANAL TREATY.

Conditions Upon Which Great Britain Will Agree to Abrogate the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, April 26.—No definite decision has yet been reached by the Foreign Office here regarding the probable attitude of the United States Senate towards the projected Nicaragua canal treaty. The negotiations proceeding on the subject of the Hay Pauncefote treaty in this connection are understood to be based on the sine qua non of neutrality of the canal. If this can be definitely assured it now seems likely Great Britain will agree to abrogate the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, though there is still the possibility of an endeavor on the part of Great Britain to simultaneously bring up the Alaskan boundary matter. This last contingency is officially described as being merely a question of policy not very likely to be pursued if the United States is content to make the canal neutral.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The administration has succeeded at last in securing a collection of opinions from the leaders of the Senate of all political parties upon which to base negotiations for a new Isthmian canal treaty to replace the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. In other words it is aware of the wishes of most of the Senators, and the only problem before the State Department is to frame a treaty that will reflect those views, ensuring a two-thirds vote for ratification, and shall yet be acceptable to the British government If, as reported from London, the sine qua non is a neutrality clause, officials here feel that success on this point seems within reach. It is expected that two drafts of a treaty will be framed before long, probably the latter part of June, on Mr. Hay's return from the West It is hardly expected, however, that final results will be attained before next Autumn, after the return of Lord Pauncefote from London.

The President has re appointed George R Bidwell to be collector of customs for the district of New York.

BOLD ROBBERY ON AN EXPRESS CAR.

Express Messenger Captured and Bound and the Local Safe Plundered.

ROBBERS MADE THEIR ESCAPE

How Much Money Was Secured Cannot be Ascertained—Car Was Entered Near Gordon, Ga., on Through Train From Atlanta.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAVANNAH, GA., April 24.—At an early hour this morning the Southern Express car, on the Central of Georgia's through train from Atlanta to Savannah, was robbed near Gordon, Ga., by two men. After binding and blindfolding the express messenger, White, the men took his keys and opened and rifled the small local safe. They got several packages, but missed one containing 1,000 silver dollars. How much money was secured cannot be ascertained, but it is believed to have been small. Not much business is transacted on that train locally. There was a considerable sum in the large through safe, but Messenger White convinced the men that he could not open it, even if he wanted to, and they did not try.

It is supposed the robbers got on at Macon. Shortly after the train pulled out from Macon two men, one tall and the other short, presented themselves at the door of the express car in which Messenger White was locked and asked to see the messenger.

"What do you want?" asked White, opening the door at the end of the car slightly.

"We have a letter for the messenger and it is important," said the tall man.

White reached out to take the letter and as the door was opened, one of the men pushed it wider and both the robbers entered the car. Pistols were presented to his head by both and he was advised to keep still. While one of the men kept White covered with a revolver the other made him get down on his knees, and pulling a handkerchief out of his pocket, blindfolded him as he knelt. The messenger's hands were then tied with manilla twine, and he was made to sit down. His feet were then tied together.

The robbers then went about their work. As the train slowed up at Gordon they jumped off and disappeared. They left no clue. Hounds have been put on the trail.

It is reported to-night that the robbers got only about $100. This however, cannot be verified.

NEGRO LYNCHED.

He Had Assaulted a Young White Woman Near Elberton, Ga.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, April 26.—A Constitution special from Elberton, Ga., says:

"While fishing in the Savannah river near here Wednesday afternoon Miss Rhoda Alexander was assaulted by a negro workman, Wm. Golsby. Miss Alexander reported the matter to her mother. About that time the negro appeared and offered to work six months for the widowed mother if she would not tell on him. Before he could leave the premises some friends appeared, took charge of the negro and left for the river. Later they reported that they had set him free To day it develops that Golsby was lynched by the citizens and that his body was thrown into the Savannah river."

OHIO RIVER FLOOD.

Water Stationary at Cincinnati, But Conditions Are Serious.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

CINCINNATI, April 26—The Ohio river has been stationary here for some distance below Cincinnati since 9 o'clock this morning, when the limit of 59 65 feet was reached. Those depending on the prediction of the limit not exceeding 58 feet have suffered since the stage became almost ten feet above the danger line.

Favorable weather is reported throughout the Ohio valley, and relief is confidently expected soon. The conditions on both sides of the river here to night are quite serious.

Taylor's Bazaar.

Fashion says flowers, so flowers are the key note to Millinery this season, with roses and foliage as leaders Our great Millinery Department is like a Summer garden all a bloom Flowers every where Thousands of sprays, wreaths and mourneres, and this is the way you can buy them.

At 20c spray of Roses, worth 50c A spray of foliage, the most stylish garniture of the season for 20c, real value 50c

Our trimmed and untrimmed Hats are selling at equally low prices.

Style, comfort and fit are supreme in the F. C. Corset—newest straight front There would be nothing unusual in finding those features in a $3 (or higher) Corset. But to get them to absolute perfection in corsets that cost but 5 c, 75c and $1 is a novel experience We close this corset as our leader in the face of many other rival brands.
